Title: Request of Changing One CJK_C Source and Glyph

China requests to Change one CJK_C source and its glyph.

The IRG#41 editorial meeting proposed to modify the source and glyph of U+2A92F with those of a proposed character numbered 01600 in CJK_F1 (IRG internal project). Below is the IRG editorial comments (see IRGN1973):

2. One G character change in CJK_C

The editorial group accepted China's proposal of changing U+2A92F (in CJK_C) with CJK_F1 No. 01600 (with source information) since they could be unified and the latter glyph was preferred. The editorial group requested IRG to approve this application.

Both of the two glyphs are modern forms of old hanzi. The old hanzi glyphs are always redesigned to modern forms to help scholars systematically study and easily communicate among people. It is confirmed by scholars that the glyph of U+2A92F (GZJW-00827, from Yin Zhou Jinwen Jichen Yinde 殷周金文集成引得) is incorrect. Traditionally, or the method accepted by scholars, the mentioned part should always be modernly designed to 𠄎 rather 𠄏. Examples are attached to this document.

Therefore, the latter glyph is proposed to take place of the former one. The source should be consequently changed. The proposed source index is GCY-0665.07 meaning the character is under the 7th head character on page 665 of Ci Yuan (CY, 辭源, a dictionary).
